RETAILIATION

CSU prohibits retaliation against individuals who engage in the protected activity of making reports or filing complaints of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking, or who participate in complaint processes. Retaliatory action is regarded as a basis for a separate complaint under the University’s policy and Student Conduct Code and can lead to separate disciplinary action.

THE LAW

Discrimination on the basis of sex, including sexual harassment and sexual violence, is prohibited in the education and employment contexts by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 and additionally in employment by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, and Section 304 of the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013.

CSU’s Title IX Sexual Harassment policy covers behavior and incidents of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, stalking, and/or retaliation. The policy can be found at: http://policylibrary.colostate.edu/policy.aspx?id=773#Section%207A.

Colorado State University is committed to providing an environment that is free from discrimination and harassment based on race, age, creed, color, religion, national origin or ancestry, sex, gender, disability, veteran status, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or pregnancy and will not discharge or in any other manner discriminate against employees or applicants because they have inquired about, discussed, or disclosed their own pay or the pay of another employee or applicant.

The Acting Title IX Coordinator is the Vice President for Equity, Equal Opportunity, and Title IX, 123 Student Services Building, Fort Collins, CO 80523-0160, (970) 491-1715. titleix@colostate.edu
